READING COMPREHENSION — Marks 30

15. Read the passage carefully and answer Questions 15, 16 and 17. [5]

Catching the Rain

In many parts of Rajasthan, there is very little rain, so people have learnt to save every drop. Long ago, villagers dug johads, which are small ponds that collect rainwater during the monsoon. Tall houses had tanks called tankas under their courtyards. When it rained, the water ran down the roofs through pipes and filled the tanka. The families used this clean water for many months. Today, schools and offices also build such tanks. This method is called rainwater harvesting. It stops water from flowing away and helps the ground water level to rise. Children can help too. They can close the taps tightly and never waste water while brushing their teeth. If everyone saves a little, we shall have enough water for tomorrow.

(i) Why have people in Rajasthan learnt to save every drop of rain? 2

Ans. Because there is very little rain in many parts of Rajasthan.

(ii) What is a johad? 2

Ans. A johad is a small pond that collects rainwater during the monsoon.

(iii) Write the word from the passage that is the opposite of dirty. 1

Ans. clean

16. Answer the following questions. [5]

(i) Where were the tankas built? 2

Ans. They were built under the courtyards of tall houses.

(ii) How did rainwater reach the tanka? 2

Ans. It ran down the roofs and flowed through pipes into the tanka.

(iii) Write the singular of families. 1

Ans. family

17. Answer the following questions. [5]

(i) What is rainwater harvesting? 2

Ans. It is a method of saving rainwater (in tanks and ponds) so that it does not flow away.

(ii) Write any two ways in which children can help to save water. 2

Ans. They can close the taps tightly and not waste water while brushing their teeth.

(iii) Write the opposite of waste (as used in the passage). 1

Ans. save

18. Read the passage carefully and answer Questions 18, 19 and 20. [5]

The Squirrel and the Mango Tree

A squirrel named Chinku lived in an old mango tree at the edge of a village. Every summer, the tree gave sweet fruit, and Chinku shared it with the birds. One year, a strong wind broke a big branch, and the tree looked weak. A crow said, 'This tree is of no use now. Let us find another home.' Chinku shook his head. 'This tree has given us shade and fruit for years. We must not leave it when it needs us,' he said. The next day, Chinku and his friends carried clay and leaves and covered the wound of the tree. By the next monsoon, new green shoots appeared on the branch. The tree stood tall again, and all the creatures lived happily in its shade.

(i) Where did Chinku live? 2

Ans. He lived in an old mango tree at the edge of a village.

(ii) What happened to the tree one year? 2

Ans. A strong wind broke a big branch and the tree looked weak.

(iii) Find a word from the passage which means a place protected from the sun. 1

Ans. shade

19. Answer the following questions. [5]

(i) What did the crow suggest? 2

Ans. The crow suggested that they should find another home because the tree was of no use now.

(ii) Why did Chinku refuse to leave the tree? 2

Ans. The tree had given them shade and fruit for years, so he felt they must not leave it when it needed them.

(iii) Write the opposite of weak. 1

Ans. strong

20. Answer the following questions. [5]

(i) How did Chinku and his friends help the tree? 2
