READING COMPREHENSION — Marks 30

15. Read the passage carefully and answer Questions 15, 16 and 17. [5]

Tigers of Ranthambore

Ranthambore National Park lies in the Sawai Madhopur district of Rajasthan. It is famous for its tigers, which can often be seen even in the daytime. The park is spread over dense forests, rocky hills and quiet lakes. An old fort stands on a high hill inside the park, and the tigers sometimes rest near its broken walls. Besides tigers, visitors can spot leopards, deer, crocodiles and many colourful birds. The tiger is our national animal, but its number had fallen because people hunted it and cut down forests. To save it, the government began Project Tiger in 1973. Today, special guards protect the animals day and night. Whenever we visit a forest, we should not litter or make loud noise. We must remember that the forest is the home of wild animals, not a place to spoil.

(i) In which district of Rajasthan is Ranthambore National Park? 2

Ans. In the Sawai Madhopur district.

(ii) Name any two animals, other than tigers, that visitors can see in the park. 2

Ans. Any two of: leopards, deer, crocodiles (and colourful birds).

(iii) Find a word from the passage which means thick. 1

Ans. dense

16. Answer the following questions. [5]

(i) Where do the tigers sometimes rest? 2

Ans. They sometimes rest near the broken walls of the old fort.

(ii) Why had the number of tigers fallen? 2

Ans. People hunted tigers and cut down the forests.

(iii) Write the opposite of quiet, using a word from the passage. 1

Ans. loud

17. Answer the following questions. [5]

(i) When did the government begin Project Tiger? 2

Ans. In 1973.

(ii) Write any two things we should not do when we visit a forest. 2

Ans. We should not litter and we should not make loud noise.

(iii) Write the singular of crocodiles. 1

Ans. crocodile

18. Read the passage carefully and answer Questions 18, 19 and 20. [5]

Hari's Garden

Hari lived in a small house with a bare yard. One spring, his grandfather gave him a packet of marigold seeds. Hari dug the soil, sowed the seeds and watered them every evening. After a week, nothing came up, and Hari felt sad. 'Seeds need time, my boy,' said his grandfather. Hari kept waiting and kept watering. Ten days later, tiny green leaves peeped out of the soil. In a month, the yard was full of golden flowers, and bees and butterflies came to visit. Hari picked a few flowers and put them in a vase in the classroom. His friends admired them and asked him to teach them gardening. From that day, Hari understood that patience and hard work always bring beautiful results.

(i) What did Hari's grandfather give him? 2

Ans. A packet of marigold seeds.

(ii) Why did Hari feel sad after a week? 2

Ans. Because nothing had come up from the seeds.

(iii) Which word in the passage means the quality of waiting calmly? 1

Ans. patience

19. Answer the following questions. [5]
