12	They saluted Mandela (1) and pledged their loyalty to the elected president (1).	1+1
13	Courage is not the absence of fear (1) but the victory over it (1).	1+1
14	He felt the triumph belonged to all people who had fought for justice (1) and not to one man or party (1).	1+1

SECTION — C (Short Answer) — Answers — 4 × 3 = 12

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks
15	The ceremony took place in the Pretoria amphitheatre of the Union Buildings (1). Dignitaries from more than 140 countries watched, and two anthems were played (1). It was a bright day, and the occasion felt like the birth of a new, united nation (1).	1+1+1
16	Being free is not merely removing one's own chains (1). It means living in a way that respects the freedom of others (1). Hence freedom is a shared responsibility of everyone in society (1).	1+1+1
17	Mandela said that he was proud of his people (1). The present tense 'am' changes to the past 'was' (1). The pronoun 'I' changes to 'he', and 'my' becomes 'his' (1).	1+1+1
	OR: He recalled that these same men had once persecuted him and his comrades (1). Their salute showed that power was being transferred peacefully (1). He felt proud that the country had moved from conflict to loyalty to democratic order (1).	1+1+1
18	He knew that he did not win freedom alone (1). Many comrades suffered, died, or were jailed for the cause (1). By naming them he shares the credit and shows his humility (1).	1+1+1
	OR: Mandela took pride in the courage of his countrymen (1). The idiom means to feel pleased about something achieved (1). It reflects his humble gratitude to his people (1).	1+1+1

SECTION — D (Long Answer) — Answers — 2 × 5 = 10

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks
19	Mandela is humble; he gives credit to many others and calls the victory common (1). He is courageous, saying that courage means conquering fear (1). He is forgiving; he does not seek revenge on those who jailed him and chooses unity instead (1). He is a deep thinker who sees that both oppressor and oppressed lack freedom (1). Altogether he is a great leader and a symbol of freedom and reconciliation worldwide (1).	2+2+1
	OR: He declares that the era of oppression is over (1). He invites all communities to build a society based on justice (1). He does not blame anyone but speaks of healing the wounds (1). He mentions both oppressed and oppressor as needing freedom (1). Thus his speech unites people rather than dividing them (1).	2+2+1

20	Correct dialogue format with names (1). One student mentions apartheid and its disaster (1). The other points out Mandela's idea of courage (1). They discuss freedom meaning respect for others (1). Conclude with a pledge to apply the lesson in school life (1).	2+2+1
	OR: The ceremony took place in the Pretoria amphitheatre before dignitaries from over 140 countries (1). Two anthems symbolised the two sections of the country (1). Mandela spoke of a bright new society and a promise that oppression would not return (1). He praised the courage of his people and the sacrifice of his comrades (1). Military chiefs saluted, showing a peaceful transfer of power; the speech ended with a hope for freedom for all (1).	2+2+1

Mistakes to avoid:

- Saying apartheid ended in 1990 or that the ceremony was in Cape Town; the inauguration was on 10 May 1994 at the Union Buildings, Pretoria.
- Forgetting that the two Deputy Presidents were Thabo Mbeki and F. W. de Klerk, or calling Mandela the ruler of a single party.
- Defining courage wrongly: Mandela says it is not the absence of fear but the triumph over it; the brave man is he who conquers fear.
- Missing the theme of freedom for all: his own hunger for freedom grew into a hunger for the freedom of his people; chains on one are chains on all.
- Taking 'the sun shall never set on so glorious a human achievement' literally; it is a metaphor for a free, lasting South Africa.
- Writing the summary as a list of events only; the extract is a reflective autobiographical piece, so mention the generals' salute and the heroes he honours.

14	He ran in the fields and swam in streams (1) and enjoyed simple freedoms like roasting corn and riding bulls (1).	1+1

SECTION — C (Short Answer) — Answers — 4 × 3 = 12

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks
15	It divided people by colour and denied the majority their rights (1). It caused suffering and loss for generations (1). Mandela hoped the new society, built on justice and equality, would heal this deep wound (1).	1+1+1
16	As a young man he felt a duty to his family, parents and children (1). Later he understood he also had a duty to his community (1). These two duties led him to the struggle for the freedom of all (1).	1+1+1
17	The new President was saluted by the generals (1). The object becomes the subject and a past participle with 'was' is used (1). Example: The speech was heard by all the guests (1).	1+1+1
	OR: A brave man is not one who feels no fear (1). He feels afraid but overcomes the fear and acts (1). Mandela says that he himself felt fear many times but chose to conquer it for his people's sake (1).	1+1+1
18	The trees are native to Pretoria and the bushveld (1). Mandela uses them to show how deeply people are rooted in the land (1). This signals that all citizens, of every race, belong to South Africa (1).	1+1+1
	OR: He suffered years of injustice yet chose no revenge (1). He worked for reconciliation of both oppressed and oppressor (1). It teaches that lasting peace is built on forgiveness, not on hatred (1).	1+1+1

SECTION — D (Long Answer) — Answers — 2 × 5 = 10

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks
19	Greeting and introduction of the topic (1). Mandela's definition: to be free is to respect others' freedom (1). Link to everyday life: rights come with duties (1). Example of unity in the rainbow nation (1). Closing appeal to protect freedom through service (1).	2+2+1
	OR: As a boy he felt free while playing in fields and streams (1). With time he saw that his freedom was an illusion, because people like him lacked basic rights (1). He then yearned for the freedom of his people (1). Later he realised that even the oppressors were not free, being chained by hatred (1). His final view: true freedom means respecting and strengthening the freedom of others (1).	2+2+1

20	The title suggests the long journey from slavery to freedom (1). It includes struggle, prison years and patience (1). Each step stands for the sacrifice of many people (1). The walk is not over, because freedom must be protected (1). So it symbolises endurance and hope (1).	2+2+1
	OR: A person who takes away another's freedom is a prisoner of hatred (1). He is locked in prejudice and narrow-mindedness (1). He loses his own humanity while oppressing others (1). Therefore real freedom requires both sides to be released from the mindset of domination (1). Mandela thus presents reconciliation as the foundation of a new, humane society (1).	2+2+1

Mistakes to avoid:

- Saying apartheid ended in 1990 or that the ceremony was in Cape Town; the inauguration was on 10 May 1994 at the Union Buildings, Pretoria.
- Forgetting that the two Deputy Presidents were Thabo Mbeki and F. W. de Klerk, or calling Mandela the ruler of a single party.
