Mistakes to avoid:

- Writing that Kisa Gotami got medicine from the Buddha; he asked her for a handful of mustard seed from a house where no one had died.
- Mistaking the sermon for a magical cure; it teaches that death comes to all and no house is free of it.
- Saying Kisa Gotami was cruel or foolish; she is a grieving mother who, after her search, is enlightened and becomes a disciple.
- Mixing up the place: the lesson is the Buddha's first sermon at Benares, preserved as a text on the nature of suffering.
- Not stating the final message: life is full of suffering and death, and peace comes from giving up grief and attachment.
- Spelling slips: Kisa Gotami, sermon, mustard, Sakyamuni, enlightenment; and quoting the Buddha without quotation marks.

Evaluator's note: Award step marks as shown; accept any correct alternative method. In internal-choice questions, evaluate only the option attempted. Deduct up to ½ mark for missing units or figures where required.
