2	(a) his predatory instinct even in captivity	Instinct.
3	(d) Animals are kept in cages by the zoo.	Present passive.
4	(d) The Prisoner of Stripes	Fits theme.
5	(a) what is lost to the tiger	A hypothetical free life.
6	(c) pads of velvet	Sensory detail.
7	(a) brilliant	Describes star.
8	(b) highlight the loss of freedom	Contrast.
9	(d) oxymoron-like contrast	Quiet and rage together.
10	(b) keep within limits	Restrict.

SECTION — B (Very Short Answer) — Answers — 4 × 2 = 8

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks
11	His silent rage and stalking show his wild nature (1) and the longing in his gaze at the stars (1).	1+1
12	He ignores visitors (1) and stands alone with his thoughts at night (1).	1+1
13	It uses images and emotion (1) rather than data (1).	1+1
14	To contrast with his captivity (1) and to arouse sympathy (1).	1+1

SECTION — C (Short Answer) — Answers — 4 × 3 = 12

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks
15	The present is dull confinement (1). The imagined past is wild and free (1). The contrast arouses pity (1).	1+1+1
16	By evoking sympathy for captive animals (1). By showing their natural role (1). By implying that freedom is a right (1).	1+1+1
17	The poet said that the tiger should be in the jungle (1). Modal 'should' is unchanged (1). Reporting verb in past (1).	1+1+1
	OR: Touch in velvet paws (1). Sight in stripes and stars (1). Sound in cars and snarls (1).	1+1+1
18	Strength is locked away (1). The tiger cannot use it (1). It suggests wasted power (1).	1+1+1
	OR: Although the tiger is angry, he does not roar (1). 'Although' shows contrast (1). Complex sentence (1).	1+1+1

SECTION — D (Long Answer) — Answers — 2 × 5 = 10

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks
19	Cage vs jungle (1). Quiet vs rage (1). Present vs imagined (1). Language (1). Effect (1).	2+2+1
	OR: Greeting (1). Poem (1). Facts (1). Appeals (1). Closing (1).	2+2+1

	OR: Four stanzas (1). Movement from cage to jungle to cage (1). Circular pattern (1). Meaning (1). Conclusion (1).	2+2+1

Mistakes to avoid:

- Writing that the tiger is happy in the zoo; the poem shows his rage and frustration in captivity, stalking his cage on 'pads of velvet'.
- Mixing the contrast: in the wild, the tiger would be lurking in the long grass near a water hole, hunting plump deer.
- Calling the poem an attack on one cruel keeper; it is a sympathetic comment on keeping wild animals confined.
- Missing the poetic device: contrast between jungle and cage; also alliteration and imagery such as 'quiet rage'.
- Saying the poet is Robert Frost; the poet is Leslie Norris.
- Spelling slips: tiger, cage, lurking, stalking, captivity.
