SECTION — D (Long Answer) — Answers — 2 × 5 = 10

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks

19	Sovereignty passed from the monarch to the French people (1); The ideas of la patrie and le citoyen created the idea of a united community with equal rights (1); A new tricolour replaced the royal standard and the Estates General became the National Assembly (1); New hymns, oaths and martyrs were created and a centralised administration with uniform laws was set up (1); Revolutionaries declared a mission to liberate other peoples of Europe, and the idea spread through Napoleon's armies (1)	1+1+1+1+1
	OR: Mazzini founded Young Italy and Young Europe and wanted a democratic republic (1); His revolts failed, but his ideas inspired nationalists (1); Cavour, chief minister of Sardinia-Piedmont, used diplomacy and an alliance with France to defeat Austria in 1859 (1); Garibaldi led the Red Shirts into South Italy and Sicily in 1860 and won peasant support (1); Victor Emmanuel II was proclaimed king of Italy in 1861 (1)	1+1+1+1+1
20	In Holland, Switzerland, Italy and Germany, the French were at first welcomed as harbingers of liberty (1); The Napoleonic Code and administrative simplification were introduced (1); Guilds were abolished and peasants freed from serfdom and manorial dues (1); However, increased taxation, censorship and forced conscription into the French armies outweighed the benefits (1); Hence initial enthusiasm turned into hostility in the conquered regions (1)	1+1+1+1+1
	OR: The conservative order of 1815 denied political rights and imposed censorship (1); The July Revolution of 1830 overthrew the Bourbon kings in France and inspired Belgium (1); Rapid population growth, unemployment and food shortages caused hardship in the 1830s-40s (1); Small producers were hit by cheap machine-made goods and peasants bore feudal dues (1); In 1848 hunger riots in Paris, the weavers' revolt in Silesia and middle-class liberal demands led to uprisings (1)	1+1+1+1+1

Mistakes to avoid:

- Mixing up Young Italy (Mazzini, Marseilles, 1831) with Young Europe (Berne, 1834); both are secret societies but different ones.
- Writing that the Congress of Vienna (1815) was hosted by Bismarck or Napoleon; it was hosted by Metternich of Austria.
- Treating the Napoleonic Code (1804) as part of the 1789 Revolution, or forgetting that it also exported to the regions he conquered.
- Saying Germany and Italy were unified in the same way: Germany by Prussia under Bismarck (wars with Denmark, Austria, France), Italy by Sardinia-Piedmont (Cavour, Garibaldi, Victor Emmanuel II).
- Using 'liberalism' in its modern sense; in the 19th century it meant individual freedom and equality before law, but the vote went only to property-owning men.
- Forgetting the key dates: 1789 (French Revolution), 1815 (Vienna), 1848 (revolutions of the liberals), 1871 (Wilhelm I proclaimed German Emperor at Versailles).
