SECTION — D (Long Answer) — Answers

2 × 5 = 10

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks
19	(i) A French artist (1). (ii) The torch of Enlightenment and the Charter of the Rights of Man (1). (iii) Each people's wish to be a free nation, forming a brotherhood of nations (1). (iv) Most of Europe was still ruled by autocratic monarchies and multi-national empires, which suppressed the demand for national and democratic rights (2).	1+1+1+2
20	The Frankfurt Parliament of 1848 failed because the Prussian king rejected the crown (1); Prussia's army and bureaucracy were the main instruments (1); Bismarck won wars against Denmark, Austria and France in seven years (1); The empire was proclaimed in 1871 at Versailles under the Kaiser (1); Liberal ideas were absorbed into a conservative, militarist state (1)	1+1+1+1+1
	OR: Cavour's diplomacy won French support and defeated Austria in 1859 (1); Garibaldi's volunteers won the south in 1860 with peasant support (1); Victor Emmanuel II provided monarchical leadership, becoming king in 1861 (1); Mazzini's republican ideals were set aside, as monarchy prevailed (1); Rome and Venetia were added later, completing unification by 1871 (1)	1+1+1+1+1

Mistakes to avoid:

- Mixing up Young Italy (Mazzini, Marseilles, 1831) with Young Europe (Berne, 1834); both are secret societies but different ones.
- Writing that the Congress of Vienna (1815) was hosted by Bismarck or Napoleon; it was hosted by Metternich of Austria.
- Treating the Napoleonic Code (1804) as part of the 1789 Revolution, or forgetting that it also exported to the regions he conquered.
- Saying Germany and Italy were unified in the same way: Germany by Prussia under Bismarck (wars with Denmark, Austria, France), Italy by Sardinia-Piedmont (Cavour, Garibaldi, Victor Emmanuel II).
- Using 'liberalism' in its modern sense; in the 19th century it meant individual freedom and equality before law, but the vote went only to property-owning men.
- Forgetting the key dates: 1789 (French Revolution), 1815 (Vienna), 1848 (revolutions of the liberals), 1871 (Wilhelm I proclaimed German Emperor at Versailles).
