SECTION — B (Very Short Answer) — Answers — 4 × 2 = 8

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks
11	Salt is consumed by all, and the heavy tax on it burdened the poor most (1); The government's monopoly over its production made it a symbol of colonial exploitation (1).	1+1
12	Khadi was hand-spun and hand-woven and was more expensive than machine-made mill cloth (1); Poor people could not afford to wear it for long, and so returned to mill cloth (1).	1+1
13	Champaran's peasants were forced by European planters to grow indigo on part of their land at unfair terms (1); A local issue of oppression gave Gandhi a chance to test satyagraha among peasants, and it was successful (1).	1+1
14	Peasants were angry at talukdars and landlords who charged very high rents and forced labour (1); They saw the Non-Cooperation call as a chance to end their exploitation, so they attacked houses and looted bazaars (1).	1+1

SECTION — C (Short Answer) — Answers — 4 × 3 = 12

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks
15	The Muslim League and many Muslim leaders felt alienated from the Congress after the Khilafat issue faded (1); The Congress was seen to be close to the Hindu Mahasabha and its use of Hindu religious symbols and images (1); Muslim leaders feared that the minority would be dominated and demanded reserved seats in legislatures, so many stayed away from the movement (1).	1+1+1
16	The Gudem Hills tribals thought that Gandhi would end the forest laws that restricted their free movement (1); Swaraj meant freedom to move freely in forests and graze cattle (1); Under Alluri Sitaram Raju they used guerrilla warfare, which contradicted Gandhi's non-violence (1).	1+1+1
17	Dr B.R. Ambedkar organised the Depressed Classes Association in 1930 (1); He demanded separate electorates for Dalits at the Second Round Table Conference so that they could elect their own representatives (1); Gandhi opposed this, which led to a clash that ended in the Poona Pact of 1932 (1).	1+1+1
	OR: The Swaraj flag of 1921 was designed by Gandhi as a tricolour of red, green and white (1); It had a spinning wheel (charkha) in the centre representing the Gandhian ideal of self-help (1); Carrying the flag in marches was a symbol of defiance and of unity among protesters (1).	1+1+1
18	Non-Cooperation (1920-22) meant withdrawing support from the government by boycotting institutions, while Civil Disobedience (1930) meant actively breaking colonial laws such as the salt law (1); Non-Cooperation was launched after the Rowlatt Act, Jallianwala Bagh and Khilafat, whereas Civil Disobedience followed the Simon Commission and Purna Swaraj (1); Business groups, women and peasants took a bigger part in Civil Disobedience, and Muslim participation was lower (1).	1+1+1
	OR: Abanindranath Tagore painted Bharat Mata as a calm, composed, divine and spiritual figure (1); The image of the mother nation inspired devotion and love, as people could relate to a mother figure (1); This image helped to develop a sense of collective belonging to the nation (1).	1+1+1

SECTION — D (Long Answer) — Answers

2 × 5 = 10

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks
19	Salt was a necessity for all, and the colonial government held a monopoly over it and taxed it heavily (1); Gandhi started the march from Sabarmati Ashram on 12 March 1930 with 78 volunteers, covering about 240 miles to Dandi (1); On 6 April 1930 he broke the salt law by making salt from seawater (1); This inspired the people across the country to break colonial laws, boycott foreign cloth and refuse to pay taxes (1); The government responded with arrests and repression, including the arrest of Gandhi, but the movement spread (1).	1+1+1+1+1
	OR: The image of Bharat Mata by Abanindranath Tagore gave a form to the nation as a mother (1); Flags, particularly the Swaraj flag with the charkha designed by Gandhi, became the symbol of defiance (1); Folklore collected by Tagore in Bengal and by Natesa Sastri in Tamil Nadu revived pride in the cultural tradition (1); Songs such as Vande Mataram stirred patriotism (1); Reinterpreted history showed India's achievements and created a sense of collective belonging (1).	1+1+1+1+1
20	The Simon Commission came to India in 1928 without any Indian member, and the Congress boycotted it (1); The Congress decided to boycott the commission, and the slogan 'Go back Simon' was raised, with leaders such as Lala Lajpat Rai also protesting in Lahore (1); In December 1929, the Lahore Congress under Nehru adopted the objective of Purna Swaraj instead of dominion status (1); 26 January 1930 was observed as Independence Day all over India (1); This led to the Civil Disobedience Movement, which widened the nationalist demands (1).	1+1+1+1+1
	OR: The Rowlatt Satyagraha (1919) was caused by an unjust law, Non-Cooperation (1920-22) by Jallianwala Bagh, the Rowlatt Act and Khilafat, and Civil Disobedience (1930) by the Simon Commission, Purna Swaraj and the salt tax (1); Rowlatt used hartals, fasting and rallies, Non-Cooperation used boycott of institutions and goods, and Civil Disobedience used the breaking of laws (1); Rowlatt was limited to towns, Non-Cooperation drew towns, peasants and tribals, and Civil Disobedience drew peasants, business groups and women (1); Rowlatt ended after violence, Non-Cooperation after Chauri Chaura, and Civil Disobedience with the Gandhi-Irwin Pact (1); Together they turned the Congress into a mass movement (1).	1+1+1+1+1

SECTION — B (Very Short Answer) — Answers — 4 × 2 = 8

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks
11	Tribal peasants of the Gudem Hills saw Gandhi as a messiah who would help them get rid of forest laws and begar (1); They interpreted swaraj as freedom to move in forests, and some turned to armed rebellion contrary to Gandhi's non-violence (1).	1+1
12	The Inland Emigration Act of 1859 did not allow plantation workers to leave the tea gardens without permission (1); They believed Gandhi Raj would give them land in villages, so they left the plantations in thousands (1).	1+1
13	After the Salt March thousands broke the salt law and manufactured salt at the coast (1); Foreign cloth was boycotted and liquor shops picketed, so the movement became a mass struggle (1).	1+1
14	Thousands of students left government schools and colleges (1); National schools and colleges were set up as alternatives, though many returned later (1).	1+1

SECTION — C (Short Answer) — Answers — 4 × 3 = 12

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks
15	Gandhi sent an ultimatum to Viceroy Irwin with eleven demands on 31 January 1930, including abolition of the salt tax (1); He also demanded a reduction of land revenue and military expenditure (1); If the demands were not met by 11 March, he would start a civil disobedience campaign, and since Irwin was unwilling to negotiate, Gandhi began the Salt March (1).	1+1+1
16	Awadh peasants rose against talukdars and landlords for high rents and begar (1); Tribal peasants in the Gudem Hills and plantation workers in Assam took part in their own ways (1); Each group gave its own meaning to swaraj and linked it to the Non-Cooperation Movement (1).	1+1+1
17	In February 1922 a peaceful procession of peasants at Chauri Chaura in Gorakhpur clashed with the police, and the angry crowd set fire to a police station (1); Several policemen were killed, and Gandhi felt the movement was becoming violent (1); He withdrew the Non-Cooperation Movement as satyagrahis needed proper training in non-violence (1).	1+1+1
	OR: Industrialists like G.D. Birla and Thakurdas supported the movement to protect their interests against British imports (1); They were afraid of the spread of militant movements and of the growing influence of socialism among young Congress members (1); After the Gandhi-Irwin Pact, they were disappointed and withdrew their support to the Civil Disobedience Movement (1).	1+1+1
18	Industrial workers of Nagpur region participated in the Civil Disobedience Movement, with workers using Gandhi caps and boycotting (1); The Congress was reluctant to include workers' demands in its programme as it did not want to alienate industrialists (1); Thus, workers' participation remained limited to a few areas and strikes against low wages and poor working conditions were local (1).	1+1+1

	OR: Khadi cloth was more expensive than mill cloth and the poor could not afford it (1); Alternative Indian institutions to replace British ones were slow to come up, so students and teachers returned to government schools (1); Lawyers also went back to the courts, so the middle-class urban boycott gradually weakened (1).	1+1+1

2 × 5 = 10

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks
19	Peasants of Awadh and rich peasants of Gujarat and Uttar Pradesh joined the Congress movements (1); Tribal peasants in the Gudem Hills and plantation workers in Assam took part in their own ways (1); Business groups funded the movement and supported the boycott for protection against imports (1); Thousands of women joined marches and picketing (1); However, the Congress could not satisfy all, as poor peasants, workers and Dalits remained at the margins (1).	1+1+1+1+1
	OR: The Khilafat issue, which linked Muslims to the national movement, ended after the Ottoman Empire was replaced in Turkey (1); After the withdrawal of Non-Cooperation, Hindu-Muslim unity weakened, and communal riots broke out (1); The Congress's closeness to the Hindu Mahasabha, and use of Hindu religious symbols, made many Muslims feel alienated (1); The debate on separate electorates and reserved seats divided Congress and the Muslim League (1); As a result, many Muslim leaders did not participate in the Civil Disobedience Movement (1).	1+1+1+1+1
20	Ambedkar organised the Depressed Classes Association in 1930 and demanded separate electorates for Dalits (1); Gandhi opposed this, thinking that separate electorates would slow down their integration, and began a fast unto death (1); Ambedkar accepted Gandhi's position and the Poona Pact (1932) gave Dalits reserved seats in provincial and central legislative councils (1); It was a compromise as Dalits got more seats but were to be voted by the general electorate (1); The Pact did not fully remove the discrimination, and Dalit participation in the movement remained limited (1).	1+1+1+1+1
	OR: Satyagraha was based on truth and non-violence, and was meant to persuade the oppressor rather than defeat him (1); Gandhi insisted on the purity of means, and withdrew movements when violence broke out (1); It made it possible for the poor and the illiterate to participate, from peasants to women (1); Its application in Champaran, Kheda and Ahmedabad raised his popularity among the masses (1); Critics felt that Gandhi's stress on non-violence slowed the pace of the struggle and that the poor were not given their share (1).	1+1+1+1+1

14	Dalits got reserved seats in provincial and central councils but not separate electorates (1); Gandhi gave up his stand on the voting system and Ambedkar gave up the demand for separate electorates (1).	1+1

SECTION — C (Short Answer) — Answers — 4 × 3 = 12

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks
15	The Simon Commission was an all-British commission and no Indian was a member (1); All parties, including Congress and the Muslim League, boycotted it and greeted it with the slogan 'Go back Simon' (1); The united protest led to the Lahore session of Congress in December 1929, which demanded Purna Swaraj (1).	1+1+1
16	Women picketed shops selling foreign cloth and liquor, urging customers to stay away (1); They boycotted foreign cloth and wore khadi, and manufactured salt (1); They faced police lathi charge and many were arrested and jailed (1).	1+1+1
17	Indian history was reinterpreted to glorify the achievements of ancient India in art, science and culture (1); Paintings like Bharat Mata and songs like Vande Mataram became icons of the nation (1); Folklore collected by nationalists restored pride in indigenous traditions and brought people together (1).	1+1+1
	OR: The Chauri Chaura violence of February 1922 went against Gandhi's principle of non-violence (1); He believed that satyagrahis needed proper training before mass struggle and strict discipline (1); The movement was called off in 1922 but the struggle was resumed in 1930 as Civil Disobedience (1).	1+1+1
18	Peasants of Awadh heard Gandhi's message and linked it to their own demands for lower rents and an end to forced labour (1); They did not follow the Congress's policy of non-violence and attacked talukdars' houses (1); The Congress leaders had not approved of such militant action, so they distanced themselves (1).	1+1+1
	OR: After Gandhi's withdrawal of Non-Cooperation, C.R. Das and Motilal Nehru formed the Swaraj Party within the Congress (1); They argued for returning to council politics to contest elections to the legislative councils (1); They wanted to oppose British policies from within the councils, while Nehru and Bose pressed for more radical mass agitation (1).	1+1+1

2 × 5 = 10

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks
19	Dalits were not enthusiastic as the Congress had ignored them and Ambedkar's demand for separate electorates created friction (1); Muslims felt alienated from the Congress, which seemed close to the Hindu Mahasabha, and many stayed away (1); Poor peasants were unhappy as Congress did not support their demand to remit unpaid rent to landlords (1); Industrialists withdrew after the Gandhi-Irwin Pact, and workers' demands were not taken up (1); Women's participation did not give them positions of authority in the Congress (1).	1+1+1+1+1
	OR: From 1917 Gandhi led local satyagrahas in Champaran, Kheda and Ahmedabad, becoming a mass leader (1); In 1919 he launched the nationwide Rowlatt Satyagraha (1); He started the Non-Cooperation Movement in 1920-22 and linked it with the Khilafat issue to unite Hindus and Muslims (1); In 1930 he launched the Civil Disobedience Movement with the Salt March (1); In 1932 he fasted to resolve the Dalit issue through the Poona Pact, though some of his decisions were criticised (1).	1+1+1+1+1
20	Thousands of women participated in marches, manufactured salt and picketed foreign cloth and liquor shops (1); Many went to prison, mainly from high-caste families in urban areas and rich peasant households in rural areas (1); They saw service to the nation as a sacred duty of women (1); But Congress was reluctant to give them positions of authority, as patriarchal attitudes persisted (1); Nevertheless, participation in the movement raised their public presence and political awareness (1).	1+1+1+1+1
	OR: Peasants of Awadh understood swaraj as freedom from talukdars' high rents and forced labour (1); Tribals of the Gudem Hills thought it meant freedom to move freely in the forests (1); Plantation workers of Assam thought it meant the right to move out of tea gardens and return to villages (1); Business groups saw it as protection against imports and a favourable rupee-sterling ratio (1); Dalits saw it as separate representation and social equality (1).	1+1+1+1+1
