Trees are our silent friends. They give us fruits, wood, shade and fresh air. During the day, trees take in a gas called carbon dioxide and give out oxygen. We need oxygen to breathe, so trees help us to stay alive.

The roots of a tree hold the soil firmly. When heavy rain falls, the roots stop the soil from being washed away. Trees also bring rain, because they help the clouds to form. Many birds build nests on trees, and squirrels and monkeys make them their home.

Today, many trees are being cut to make roads and buildings. This is a big problem. For every tree that is cut, we should plant two new trees and look after them. Let us promise to plant at least one sapling every year.

(i) Trees give out: 1

(a) smoke (b) oxygen
(c) dust (d) carbon dioxide

(ii) The roots of a tree: 1

(a) build nests (b) make fruits
(c) hold the soil (d) give shade

(iii) Which animals make their home on trees? 1

(a) Cows and goats (b) Fish and frogs
(c) Squirrels and monkeys (d) Lions and tigers

(iv) Many trees are being cut to make: 1

(a) ponds (b) gardens
(c) roads and buildings (d) nests

(v) The writer asks us to plant at least: 1

(a) one sapling every year (b) a forest
(c) two trees a week (d) ten trees a day

(vi) Why are trees called our 'silent friends'? 1

(vii) What do we need oxygen for? 1

(viii) State whether True or False: Roots of the trees cannot stop soil from being washed away. 1

(ix) Find a word in the passage which means 'a young plant'. 1

(x) What should we do for every tree that is cut? 1

SECTION — B (Reading: Story / Poem) — 10 Marks

Read the text and answer the questions.

2. Read the story carefully and answer the questions that follow. — 10

Rohan was a boy who always came late to school. His teacher, Mr Verma, told him many times, "Rohan, start a little early." But Rohan only smiled and said, "Sir, the road is long."

One morning, a heavy truck broke down on the road and the traffic stopped. Rohan reached the school gate at nine o'clock, when the bell had already rung. He ran towards his class, but the gate was closed. He had missed the morning prayer and the first test.

That evening, Rohan set the alarm for six o'clock. From the next day, he reached school ten minutes before the bell. Mr Verma smiled and said, "Well done, Rohan. A little early is always better than a little late."
