3	THE NEED FOR DIGITAL DETOX By Neel Shah Mobiles, tablets and televisions fill our lives, and many of us spend hours on screens every day. This tires the eyes, spoils sleep and keeps us away from family and friends. A 'digital detox' means staying away from screens for some time. We can begin by keeping phones away during meals and one hour before bed. We should read books, play outdoors and talk to our families. Technology is useful, but we should use it, not let it use us. Let us all take a break today. (Content 2 · Organisation 1 · Language 1)	4

	OR: THE VALUE OF TEACHERS IN OUR LIVES By Pallavi Rao A teacher is like a candle that burns to give light to others. Teachers do not only teach lessons; they teach us values like honesty, discipline and kindness. They guide us when we are confused and encourage us when we fail. Great people like Dr A. P. J. Abdul Kalam always remembered their teachers with gratitude. We should respect our teachers, listen to them and follow their advice. Teachers' Day on 5 September reminds us of their service. Let us thank them every day. (Content 2 · Organisation 1 · Language 1)	4
