2	Sector 4 Jaipur 8 November 2026 The Editor The City Times Jaipur Subject: Need for parks in Sector 4 Sir/Madam, Through your newspaper I wish to draw the attention of the authorities to the lack of parks in Sector 4. Children play on the road, which is dangerous, and elderly residents have nowhere to walk. The only plot reserved for a park is covered with garbage. I request the development authority to clean it and turn it into a green space with benches and a play area. Residents will gladly help in its upkeep. 3	Honesty is the Best Policy Respected Principal, teachers and dear friends. A good name is more precious than gold, and it can be earned only through honesty. When we copy in a test, we may gain a few marks but lose our self-respect. When we speak the truth, even if it earns a scolding, we gain a peaceful conscience. Honest people are trusted by everyone. Shopkeepers, doctors, teachers and leaders succeed over time only when people believe their word. Dishonesty may bring quick benefits, but it needs more lies to be hidden, and the day it is discovered, trust is lost. Let us, therefore, take a pledge today: we will not cheat, we will not lie and we will accept our mistakes. This small step will make our school a happier place. Thank you. (Content 2 · Organisation 1 · Expression/Style 1 · Accuracy 1)	5

	OR: The Architects of Tomorrow by Neha/Nikhil, Class 9 A nation is built in its classrooms, and teachers are its architects. They do not merely teach mathematics or grammar; they shape the way we think and the values we cherish. A kind word from a teacher can lift a student's confidence, and a firm word can stop a student from taking a wrong path. Good teachers inspire curiosity, encourage questions and remain patient with slow learners. They also lead by example, for children copy what they see more than what they are told. In return, students must show respect, listen attentively and complete their work. Teachers are like candles which burn themselves to light the lives of others. We should thank them not only on Teachers' Day but every day through our sincerity. (Content 2 · Organisation 1 · Expression/Style 1 · Accuracy 1)	5
4	Last month, my father took us to the annual fair in our town. As soon as we entered the ground, we were greeted by the sounds of drums, laughter and vendors calling out their wares. Colourful balloons floated above the crowds. First, we went to the giant wheel, and from the top the whole fair looked like a toy village. Then my younger sister insisted on a merry-go-round while I tried my hand at shooting balloons and won a small toy. We ate hot jalebis and sipped sugarcane juice. In one corner a magician pulled rabbits out of a hat, and children watched with open mouths. By dusk we were tired but happy. On the way home, my sister fell asleep on my father's shoulder, clutching a balloon. The fair taught me that simple pleasures bring the greatest joy, and I eagerly wait for next year's one. (Content 2 · Organisation 1 · Expression 2 · Accuracy 1)	6
	OR: On a hot summer day, a thirsty crow flew over a dry town in search of water. Every pond had dried up, and the taps were empty. At last he saw a small pot in a school courtyard. He peeped inside but the water was too low for his beak. The crow thought for a moment. He saw some pebbles near a flower bed and began to drop them, one by one, into the pot. Many students gathered to watch him. Slowly, the water rose, and soon he could drink. He drank to his heart's content and flew off, cawing happily. The students were impressed. They decided to keep earthen pots of water on their windows and terraces for birds in summer. Within a week, the school was full of chirping sparrows and doves. Moral: Where there is a will, there is a way, and kindness is a lesson that all can learn. (Content 2 · Organisation 1 · Expression 2 · Accuracy 1)	6
