2	11, Sarvodaya Nagar Jaipur 22 November 2026 The Editor The Daily Dispatch Jaipur Subject: Heavy school bags Sir/Madam, I wish to draw the attention of the education authorities to the heavy school bags carried by young children. They suffer back and shoulder pain. Schools should follow timetables to avoid carrying all books daily, provide lockers and use digital resources. Parents also should avoid putting unnecessary items in the bags. I hope your newspaper will highlight this problem. Yours faithfully Aditya/Aditi (Format 1 · Content 2 · Organisation 1 · Language 1)	5
	OR: To: head@techinstitute.example From: sana.9@mastermindschool.example Subject: Enquiry about winter coding course Dear Sir/Madam, I am a student of Class 9 and have read about your winter coding course in a newspaper. Please let me know the dates of the course, the duration of each class, the programming languages that will be taught and the fee. I would also like to know whether a certificate is given and if there is a discount for students. I would be grateful if you could also tell me whether previous experience is needed. Kindly reply at the earliest. Yours faithfully Sana/Sahil (Format 1 · Content 2 · Organisation 1 · Language 1)	5
3	Together We Can Good morning friends. Remember the story of the four oxen that were safe together but fell prey to the lion when separated? That is the power of teamwork. In every field, from a cricket match to a science project, success depends on cooperation. Each member brings a different skill; the leader gathers them for a common goal. Teams share the workload, support one another in failure and double their joy in victory. To build a good team, we must listen, share credit and respect differences. Let us avoid blaming and instead find solutions together. As Helen Keller said, 'Alone we can do so little; together we can do so much.' Let us take this lesson to our classrooms and playgrounds. Thank you. (Content 2 · Organisation 1 · Expression/Style 1 · Accuracy 1)	5

	OR: Save Energy, Save the Future by Aman/Alka, Class 9 We depend on energy for light, cooking, travel and industry. But much of it comes from coal and oil, which will not last forever and which pollute the air. Saving energy is therefore both a duty and a necessity. Simple steps can help: switch off lights and fans when leaving a room, use LED bulbs, walk or cycle for short distances and use solar heaters. A school that saves energy can set an example for the entire neighbourhood. The government is also promoting solar and wind power. Yet the greatest change will come from our habits. If every household saves a unit of electricity each day, the nation will save crores of units. Let us be the generation that lights the future without burning it. (Content 2 · Organisation 1 · Expression/Style 1 · Accuracy 1)	5
4	My best birthday was my twelfth. I woke up that morning to the smell of my mother's special halwa. When I came to the dining table, my parents had decorated it with balloons and a banner saying 'Happy Birthday'. After breakfast, my father announced that we would spend the day at the zoo. I could hardly believe it. We saw tigers, elephants and rainbow-coloured parrots, and had a picnic lunch under a tree. In the evening, my friends came home with gifts. We cut the cake, played musical chairs and watched a magic show by my uncle. At the end of the day, my grandmother gave me a small book of stories and blessed me. As I lay in bed that night, I felt the happiest child in the world. It was not the gifts that made the day special, but the love and care of the people around me. (Content 2 · Organisation 1 · Expression 2 · Accuracy 1)	6
	OR: Kiran was walking to school when she saw an old man struggling to cross a busy road. Cars honked impatiently, and he stood frightened at the edge. Though she was already late, Kiran took his hand and led him safely across. 'Bless you, child,' said the man. At school, Kiran was scolded by the teacher for being late. She did not explain. A few weeks later, the school invited a famous scientist as chief guest at the annual function. When he came on the stage, Kiran was surprised to see that he was the old man she had helped. The scientist told the audience how a kind girl had helped him cross the road on his way to a meeting. 'Such kindness is rare,' he said, 'and I would like to give the girl a scholarship.' The audience applauded loudly as Kiran walked up to the stage. Moral: A good deed never goes waste. (Content 2 · Organisation 1 · Expression 2 · Accuracy 1)	6
