Each question carries 4 marks (1 + 1 + 2). (3 × 4 = 12)

34. Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

"Erosion is the process by which soil, rocks and other surface material are worn away and carried from one place to another by natural agents such as water, wind, ice and waves. Unlike weathering, which only breaks down rocks, erosion involves movement of the broken material. There are different types of erosion — water erosion by rivers and rain, wind erosion in dry sandy areas, glacial erosion by moving ice and coastal erosion by sea waves. Erosion shapes landforms and can both create and destroy features of the Earth's surface."

(i) What is erosion? 1

(ii) Give one landform formed by the erosional work of glaciers. 1

(iii) Distinguish between weathering and erosion. 2

35. Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

"A mixed economy combines the features of both market and planned economies. In this system private individuals, enterprises and the government all play important roles in taking economic decisions. We also find large public sector companies that play a significant role in the market. In reality, most economies today have some features of a mixed system — private ownership with a certain degree of government regulation. India adopted a mixed economy after independence and became more market-oriented after 1991."

(i) What does a mixed economy combine? 1

(ii) Name two important participants in economic decision-making in a mixed economy. 1

(iii) Explain two features of a mixed economy with examples. 2

36. Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

"In a multi-party system several political parties contest elections and represent diverse voices and interests, giving people the power to choose those they consider most suitable. In elections to Parliament or the State Assemblies, the party or coalition that wins a majority of seats forms the government, while the others form the opposition. Political parties work within the framework of the Representation of the People Act, 1951, and are registered and recognised by the Election Commission of India."

(i) What does a multi-party system give to the people? 1

(ii) Which Act regulates the functioning of political parties and elections in India? 1

(iii) How is the government formed in a multi-party system? 2
