SECTION — B (Very Short Answer) — Answers — 4 × 2 = 8

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks
11	A system of government in which power is divided between a central authority and various constituent units of the country.	2
12	The area over which someone has legal authority, defined in terms of geographical boundaries or kinds of subjects.	2
13	When power is taken away from Central and State governments and given to local government.	2
14	All the voters in a village are its members; it supervises the gram panchayat, approves its annual budget and reviews its performance, meeting at least twice or thrice a year.	2

SECTION — C (Short Answer) — Answers — 4 × 3 = 12

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks
15	Two or more levels of government; different tiers govern the same citizens but each has its own jurisdiction in legislation, taxation and administration; jurisdictions specified in the constitution; fundamental provisions cannot be unilaterally changed by one level; courts interpret the constitution and act as umpire; sources of revenue clearly specified.	1+1+1
16	In a unitary system there is only one level of government or sub-units are subordinate and can be ordered by the centre (Sri Lanka); in a federal system the central government cannot order the state governments; states have powers of their own and both are separately answerable to the people (India, USA).	3
17	Union List — subjects of national importance: defence, foreign affairs, banking, communications, currency; State List — state and local importance: police, trade, commerce, agriculture, irrigation; Concurrent List — common interest: education, forest, trade unions, marriage, adoption, succession; Union law prevails in case of conflict; residuary subjects with the Union.	3
	OR: Coming together — independent states come together to form a bigger unit to increase security (USA, Switzerland, Australia); states usually have equal power and are strong. Holding together — a large country divides power between constituent states and the national government (India, Spain, Belgium); the central government tends to be more powerful; units may have unequal powers.	3
18	Before: elections not held regularly, local bodies directly under state control, no powers or resources of their own. After: regular elections mandatory; seats reserved for SC, ST, OBC; at least one-third reserved for women; State Election Commission conducts elections; states must share powers and revenue.	3
	OR: No national language; Hindi as official language spoken by about 40 per cent; 21 other Scheduled Languages; exams in any of these languages; states have their own official languages; cautious attitude in spreading Hindi; English continued after 1965 following protests in Tamil Nadu; avoided Sri Lanka-like conflict.	3

SECTION — D (Long Answer) — Answers

2 × 5 = 10

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks
19	Linguistic states — redrawing boundaries so people speaking the same language live in one state; some created on culture, ethnicity or geography (Nagaland, Uttarakhand, Jharkhand); made the country more united and administration easier. Language policy — no national language, safeguards, English retained. Centre–State relations — earlier same party dominated, misuse of the Constitution to dismiss state governments; after 1990, rise of regional parties and coalition governments; new culture of power sharing; Supreme Court judgement made arbitrary dismissal difficult.	5
	OR: Rural — Panchayati Raj: gram panchayat in each village or group of villages with panch and sarpanch, directly elected; works under gram sabha; panchayat samiti/block/mandal formed by grouping gram panchayats, elected by panchayat members; zilla parishad at district level — most members elected, MPs, MLAs and some officials are members; chairperson is political head. Urban — municipalities in towns with municipal chairperson; municipal corporations in big cities with mayor; both controlled by elected bodies.	5
20	Constitution declared India a Union of States, based on principles of federalism; two-tier system originally, third tier (panchayats and municipalities) added; separate jurisdiction — Union, State and Concurrent Lists; residuary powers with Union; special status for some states (Article 371 — Assam, Nagaland, Arunachal, Mizoram); Union Territories; changes need two-thirds majority in both Houses and ratification by half the states; judiciary as umpire; both levels can raise taxes.	5
	OR: Achievements — largest experiment in democracy; about 36 lakh elected representatives; deepened democracy; increased women's representation and voice; regular elections; State Election Commissions. Difficulties — gram sabhas not held regularly; most state governments have not transferred significant powers or adequate resources; still far from realising self-government; example of Porto Alegre (Brazil) shows participatory budgeting.	5

	OR: Each village or group of villages has a gram panchayat — council of ward members (panch) and president (sarpanch) directly elected by adult population; decision-making body for the village; works under the gram sabha of all voters which approves budget and reviews performance.	3

Q.	Expected Answer / Value Points	Marks

19	Similar — both are 'holding together' federations with powers shared between central and state governments constitutionally; Different — Belgium has a community government for language groups and equal representation in Brussels, which India does not; India has a three-tier system with panchayats and unequal powers of some states. Features — two or more tiers, separate jurisdiction, constitutional guarantee, consent for changes, courts as umpire, financial autonomy, dual objectives.	5
	OR: Constitutional provisions necessary but not sufficient; spirit of federalism, respect for diversity, desire for living together as shared ideals; linguistic states; flexible language policy; restructuring of Centre–State relations; coalition era; Supreme Court protection; decentralisation to local bodies.	5
20	Regular elections mandatory; reservation for SC, ST, OBC; one-third for women; State Election Commission; states to share powers and revenue; impact — about 36 lakh representatives, deepened democracy, women's voice (over 10 lakh women representatives); problems — irregular gram sabhas, inadequate powers and funds.	5
	OR: Union List, State List, Concurrent List with examples; residuary powers; Union law prevails in conflict on Concurrent List; special powers of some states; Union Territories; constitutional amendment procedure; taxation powers for both; judiciary resolves disputes.	5
