21. Assertion (A): In a democracy all power does not rest with any one organ of the government.
Reason (R): An intelligent sharing of power among legislature, executive and judiciary is very important to the design of a democracy.

Ans: (a) Horizontal distribution of power (checks and balances) – R explains A.

22. Read the statements in the context of power-sharing and choose the correct option.
Statement I: In Belgium, the Dutch-speaking community is in the majority and the French-speaking community is in the minority in the country as a whole.

Statement II: Sri Lanka adopted a majoritarian policy in 1956 by an Act that made Sinhala the only official language.

(a) Both statements are correct
(b) Statement I is correct, Statement II is incorrect
(c) Statement I is incorrect, Statement II is correct
(d) Both statements are incorrect

> Ans: (a) Both correct.

23. Find the correct match regarding forms of power-sharing.

(a) Horizontal division – among different levels of government
(b) Vertical division – among legislature, executive and judiciary
(c) Federal government – Vertical division of power among different levels of government
(d) Community government in Belgium – Power shared among political parties only

> Ans: (c) Vertical division = different levels (Union/State/local) – federal government.

24. Which of the following is INCORRECT about the Union List, State List and Concurrent List in India?

(a) Defence and foreign affairs are in the Union List.
(b) Police and trade are in the State List.

(a) A political party is a group of people who come together to contest elections and hold power in the government.
(b) Political parties reflect fundamental political divisions in society.
(c) In a democracy, only one dominant party is necessary for effective functioning.
(d) Political parties perform functions of contesting elections, shaping public opinion and forming governments.

> Ans: (c) A multi-party competition is a mark of democracy; one-party systems are not democratic.

26. A woman is paid less than a man for the same work in a factory. Which type of discrimination does this illustrate?

(a) Religious discrimination
(b) Gender division of labour and unequal wages
(c) Caste-based reservation
(d) Regional disparity

> Ans: (b) Unequal wages for equal work show gender discrimination.

27. What is federalism? Mention any one major form of power-sharing commonly referred to as federalism.

> (1) Federalism is a system of government in which power is divided between a central authority and various constituent units of the country. (1) Vertical division of power among different levels of government.

28. Explain why an intelligent sharing of power among legislature, executive and judiciary is very important to the design of a democracy. Give any two reasons.

> (1) Prevents concentration of power in one organ and ensures a balance. (1) Each organ checks the others (checks and balances). (1) Power-sharing with more than one body ensures that no organ exercises unlimited power. (Any three points, 1 each / 1+2)

OR

Describe how the stories of Belgium and Sri Lanka help us understand the need for power-sharing.

(1) Belgium accommodated regional and linguistic differences through amendments to its constitution and community government – prevented civil strife. (1) Sri Lanka ignored the minority Tamils' demands by a majoritarian policy in 1956 leading to civil war. (1) Conclusion: power-sharing is good because it reduces conflict and ensures stability of political order.

29. Explain the theory and practice of federalism in India. How has the third tier of local government strengthened Indian federalism?

(1) Constitution declared India a Union of States; two-tier originally – Union and States. (1) Three lists: Union, State, Concurrent; residuary with Union. (1) Features: states not equal in powers, Union Territories etc.; (1) Third tier – the 73rd and 74th Amendments (1992) made local government three-tier, regular elections, reservation of seats for women (one-third), SC/ST/OBC, state election commissions and finance commissions. (1) This deepened democracy and made it more effective at grassroots level.

O R

'Vertical division of power among different levels of government is one of the major forms of power-sharing in modern democracies.' Examine this statement with reference to Indian federalism.

(1) Meaning of vertical division. (1) The Constitution divides legislative powers between Union and State governments (Union, State, Concurrent lists). (1) Residuary powers to the Union; (1) Single constitution with provisions for amendment requiring consent of both levels; Supreme Court as umpire; (1) Third tier of local self-government – shows vertical sharing across three levels.

30. Read the passage and answer the questions that follow.

The existence of social diversity does not threaten democracy. Political expression of social differences is possible and sometimes quite desirable in a democratic system. We look at three kinds of social differences that can take the form of social divisions and inequalities. These are social differences based on gender, religion and caste.

30.1 Does the existence of social diversity threaten democracy according to the source?

No, social diversity does not threaten democracy.

30.2 Name the three kinds of social differences discussed in the passage.

Gender, religion and caste.

30.3 Explain why political expression of social differences is sometimes desirable in a democratic system.

(1) It enables disadvantaged groups to express their grievances and demand justice/attention to their problems. (1) It brings people from different communities into the democratic process and gives them a say, strengthening democracy.

SECTION D — ECONOMICS — 8 questions · 20 marks

31. Assertion (A): Income is the most common indicator used to compare countries, but it alone is not a sufficient measure of development.
Reason (R): Average income does not tell us how income is distributed among people and ignores non-material goods such as health and education.

Ans: (a) Both true; R explains why income alone is inadequate.

32. Read the statements and choose the correct option.
Statement I: Sectors can be classified into organised and unorganised on the basis of the nature of employment.
Statement II: In the unorganised sector, jobs are not regular and employment is secure with fixed hours.

(a) Both statements are correct

(b) Statement I is correct, Statement II is incorrect

(c) Statement I is incorrect, Statement II is correct
(d) Both statements are incorrect

Ans: (c) Statement II is false: unorganised sector jobs are low-paid, irregular and insecure.

33. Fill in the blank with the help of the option given below. Primary sector is also known as ..... sector.

(a) Tertiary
(b) Agriculture and related
(c) Manufacturing
(d) Service

Ans: (b) Primary sector = agriculture and related.

34. What is the importance of studying sectors of the economy? Mention any two bases of sectoral classification.

(1) To understand how economic activities are organised and which sectors contribute to GDP and employment. (1) Bases: nature of activity (primary/secondary/tertiary); employment conditions (organised/unorganised); ownership (public/private). (Any two)

35. Why is income alone not a sufficient indicator of development? Give any three reasons.

(1) Average income hides disparities in distribution. (1) It ignores non-material aspects – healthcare, education, freedom, safety etc. (1) It does not account for environmental sustainability / non-monetary benefits.

OR

Explain any three common indicators used to compare the development of countries or states.

(1) Per capita income / average income. (1) Infant Mortality Rate. (1) Literacy rate / net attendance ratio / HDI components (life expectancy, schooling, per capita income). (Any three)

36. Describe the changing roles of the primary, secondary and tertiary sectors in the Indian economy. Why has the service sector grown rapidly?

(1) Primary sector was the largest contributor to GDP earlier; later secondary and then tertiary became the largest contributor to GDP. (1) The majority of workers still engaged in the primary sector. (1) Service growth: increase in demand for basic services, income-induced demand (tourism, shopping, private hospitals), IT-related services.

37. 'Development has many aspects. People have different perspectives on development.' Discuss this statement and explain how common indicators of development can be arrived at.

(1) Different persons can have different developmental goals; what is development for one may not be for another. (1) Examples (e.g. landless labourers want more days of work/better wages; girl may want freedom/equal opportunity). (1) Development for one may be harmful for another (dam, industrial). (1) Common indicators: per capita income, literacy, health, etc. (1) Importance of quality of life and environmental sustainability.

OR

Explain the three types of sectoral classification discussed in the chapter 'Sectors of the Indian Economy'.

(2) Primary, secondary and tertiary sectors – meaning with examples. (1) Organised vs unorganised sector – features. (1) Public vs private sector – ownership and examples. (1) Link with employment/GDP.

38. Read the passage and answer the questions that follow.
The idea of development or progress has always been with us. We have aspirations or desires about what we would like to do and how we would like to live. Similarly, we have ideas about what a country should be like. Development involves thinking about these questions and about the ways in which we can work towards achieving these goals.

38.1 What does development involve according to the source?

> Thinking about aspirations, questions about how people should live and how to achieve these goals.

38.2 Mention any one question that people ask while thinking about development.

> Can life be better for all? / Can there be more equality? / How should people live together? (Any one)

38.3 Explain why the idea of development is described as a complex task. Give any two points.

> (1) Different people have different, and even conflicting, goals. (1) What is development for one may be destructive for another; no single measure works for all.
